ABSTRACT

This report is based on data gathered in a 1982 survey of college and university libraries conducted as part of the Higher Education General Information Survey (HEGIS). The survey had a 91% response rate from a universe of 3,326 colleges and universities. The 1982 data categories cover the following time frames: staff and library hours as of fall 1982; holdings, acquisitions, receipts, expenditures, circulations, and interlibrary loans for the school year ending in June 1982; and transactions for a typical week in spring 1982. The last prior survey of college and university libraries was conducted in fall 1979. Data from the two surveys are compared to show changes over the years. Tabular summaries of the 1981-82 survey are presented in two parts. Tables in part one are stratified, to provide aggregates for the following categories: universities, 4-year institutions with graduate students, 4-year institutions without graduate students, and 2-year institutions. The tables in part two provide aggregates in the new NCES (National Center for Education Statistics) institutional categories: Doctoral; Comprehensive; General Baccalaureate; Two-Year; Specialized; and New. Appendix A describes these categories. (THC)

Highlights (1981-82)

- Total operating expenditures for college and university libraries equaled $1.9 billion.
- Receipts from Federal Government grants totaled $19.3 million.
- Total expenditures for periodicals ($258.0 million) exceeded total expenditures for books ($255.7 million).
- Book volumes in college and university libraries totaled 567.8 million. This represents an average of 62 volumes per full-time equivalent (FTE) student.*
- Fewer book volumes were added to academic library collections than in 1978-79. This decline in acquisitions continues the downward trend which began in 1972-73.
- The total number of (FTE) staff members in college and university libraries equaled 58,476. Of these, 43,964 (75.2 percent) were women.
- The number of FTE students per FTE library staff member equaled 155.*
- Total circulation in college and university libraries slightly exceeded 200 million for the school year. This is about 20 circulations per FTE student.

The data in this report were derived from an NCES survey of college and university libraries conducted in fall 1982. The last prior NCES survey of college and university libraries was conducted in fall 1979. This section makes some comparisons and depicts some changes between the two survey years (1979 and 1982).[3]

Foreword

This report is based on data gathered in 1982 in a survey of college and university libraries which is a part of the Higher Education General Information Survey (HEGIS) conducted by the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES). HEGIS was initiated in 1966 to provide a continuing data base on higher education institutions. The last prior library survey was included in the HEGIS conducted in 1979.

College and university library surveys not only provide information on a vital component of higher education institutions, they also complement the data gathered from other types of libraries. Accordingly, the college and university library survey is a part of the Library General Information Survey (LIBGIS) which is also conducted by NCES. LIBGIS gathers data on academic, public, school, and special libraries as well as on networks and the library profession. Collectively, these surveys afford an assessment of the status of libraries in the Nation.

We appreciate the continuing cooperation of college and university librarians who supplied the data in this report. The assistance of State Coordinators who assisted in the collection and review of data from their States is also gratefully acknowledged.

Acknowledgements

This report is made possible by the cooperative endeavors of many individuals. VSE Corporation of Alexandria, Virginia under contract with the Department of Education, conducted a follow-up of nonrespondents, edited survey responses according to NCES specifications, and produced tabular output. Special recognition is extended to Thomas Shifflett and the computer staff of VSE for their untiring efforts in striving for the highest possible completeness and accuracy in the survey results. Special recognition is also extended to NCES staff members who made valuable contributions to the preparation of this report. They include: Stanley Kwaczala, who provided data processing assistance, and Suellen Mauchamer for editorial review and copy preparation of the manuscript.

I. Introduction

The National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) conducted this survey of college and university libraries in the fall of 1982. The universe of college and university libraries was derived from the universe of colleges and universities, as defined by the United States Department of Education, which enumerates individual institutions and each of the branches of multi-campus institutions.[1]

The survey had a 91 percent response rate from a universe of 3,326 colleges and universities. Some of the institutions and branches had no library facilities, while others were affiliates of a joint library. The working universe of 3,104 college and university libraries was established from the college and university universe by: (1) removing the institutions and branches of institutions that had no library or were members of joint libraries, and (2) adding the joint libraries. Data were imputed[2] for the 302 nonrespondents, with the exception of 89 institutions that were not in the 1979 survey.

The 1982 data categories cover the following time frames: staff and library hours are as of fall 1982; holdings, acquisitions, receipts, expenditures, circulations, and interlibrary loans are for the school year ending in June 1982 (1981-82); and transactions for a typical week in Spring 1982.

The last prior survey of college and university libraries was in fall 1979. Data from the two surveys were drawn to show changes over the years.

Tabular summaries of 1981-82 survey are presented in two parts. The tables in part one are stratified, as in the past, to provide aggregates for the following categories:

Universities
4-year Institutions with Graduate Students
4-year Institutions without Graduate Students
2-year Institutions.

The tables in part two provide aggregates in the new NCES institutional categories:

Doctoral Comprehensive
General Baccalaureate
Two-year
Specialized
New

For a description of these categories, see appendix A.

[2]Missing data of a nonresponding institution are imputed by using the data of a peer institution that is most similar to the nonrespondent. The peer institution is selected on the basis of: Control and level, enrollment size, NCES classification, level of offering, and State of reporting unit.

II. Change in College and University Libraries 1978-79 to 1981-82

The data in this report were derived from an NCES survey of college and university libraries conducted in fall 1982. The last prior NCES survey of college and university libraries was conducted in fall 1979. This section makes some comparisons and depicts some changes between the two survey years (1979 and 1982).[1]

Holdings and Acquisitions

Total book volumes increased from 517.2 million in 1978-79 to 567.8 million in 1981-82 (table A). Although total book collections increased during this period, acquisitions of book volumes and titles decreased by 9.1 percent and 11.6 percent, respectively, when comparing the two survey years (table B). This decline in book acquisitions continues the downward trend which began in 1972-73.

Periodical subscriptions, however, increased 3.0 percent (table B). The popularity of periodicals carried over into microforms, where the number of periodical titles available increased a substantial 58.3 percent over 1978-79 (table A). Acquisitions of periodicals on microforms was up 52.5 percent from 1978-79 to 1981-82 (table B). Audiovisual materials were being added at a slower rate, down 22.4 percent from 1978-79 (table B).

Expenditures and Receipts

Operating expenditures in academic libraries increased by $452.9 million or 30.4 percent from 1978-79 to 1981-82 (table C). During the same 3-year period, the inflation rate, based on the Consumer Price Index, was 37.3 percent.[4] Thus, expenditures did not increase as fast as inflation.

From 1978-79 to 1981-82, expenditures for library staff salaries increased 30.0 percent, but expenditures for fringe benefits increased considerably more—up 47.8 percent (table C). In 1981-82, the total expenditures for staff compensation[5] of $1.2 billion was just about double the amount spent on library material.[6] In comparing the two survey years, the 47.8 percent increase in fringe benefits represents the largest percentage increase of any expenditures items, followed closely by the 44.7 percent increase of expenditures for periodicals. By comparison, expenditures for books increased by only 14.6 percent. Indeed, 1982 total expenditures for periodicals exceeded total expenditures for books, $258.1 million and $255.8 million, respectively. Only one expenditure item showed a decrease—expenditures for audiovisual materials were down 7.6 percent. Total receipts from Federal Government grants showed a 23.2 percent decrease.

Staff

A total of 58,476 full-time equivalent (FTE) persons served on college and university library staffs in fall 1982 (table D), a 1.4 percent increase over fall 1979. This total represents approximately 155 FTE students per FTE library staff member in 1982, as compared with 147 FTE students per FTE library staff member in 1979.[7] Females represented approximately 75 percent of the college and university library staff in both years. By contrast, females represented only 52 percent of the college library administrators in 1982. Between 1979 and 1982 the number of female administrators increased by 6.9 percent while the number of male administrators decreased by 3.0 percent.

Library Usage

Although circulation of library materials was virtually unchanged—up 0.4 percent (table 5), reference transactions increased substantially, up 6.8 percent since 1979. In the spring of 1982, reference transactions exceeded 1.6 million in a typical week. Interlibrary loans rose substantially; total loans to other libraries increased by 34.1 percent over 1979, and loans from other libraries by 18.0 percent.

[1]The 1979 data in this section do not agree precisely with the data published in the NCES 1979 report because adjustments had to be made to make the 2 years comparable, i.e., the 1979 survey included Puerto Rico, Guam, and Samoa whereas the 1982 survey did not. In this section, both survey years (1979 and 1982) include only the 50 States and D.C.

[4]The inflation rate is derived from monthly figures published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

[6]Sum of expenditures for books, periodicals, microforms, audiovisuals and other library materials.

Appendix A

NCES Classification of Institutions of Higher Education

General

The following categories A through D cover institutions that grant more than 25 percent of their degrees at the baccalaureate level or above. Institutions in category E grant 75 percent or more of their awards below the baccalaureate level. Category F is for new institutions.

A. Doctoral-level Institutions

These are institutions characterized by a significant level and breadth of activity in and commitment to doctoral-level education as measured by the number of doctorate recipients and the diversity in doctoral-level program offerings. Included in this category are institutions that are not considered specialized schools (see category D below) and that grant a minimum of 30 doctoral-level degrees. These degrees must be granted in three or more doctoral-level program areas or, alternatively, have an interdisciplinary program at the doctoral level. Included in the counts of doctoral degrees for classification purposes are the following first-professional degrees: M.D., D.D.S., D.O., and D.V.M. All of these are in a single program area, health professions. One other type of institution is also classified as doctoral: any institution that meets all other criteria for being so classified, except for the number of doctorates, and grants only doctorates, is classified as doctoral-level.

B. Comprehensive Institutions

These institutions are characterized by diverse post baccalaureate programs (including first-professional), but do not engage in significant doctoral-level education. Specifically, this category includes institutions not considered specialized in which the number of doctoral-level degrees granted is less than 30 or in which fewer than 3 doctoral-level programs are offered. In addition, these institutions must grant a minimum of 30 post baccalaureate degrees (master's, doctor's, and first-professional) and either grant degrees in 3 or more post baccalaureate programs or, alternatively, have an interdisciplinary program at the post baccalaureate level.

C. General Baccalaureate Institutions

These institutions are characterized by their primary emphasis on general undergraduate, baccalaureate-level education. they are not significantly engaged in post baccalaureate education. Included are institutions not considered as specialized and those in which the number of post baccalaureate degrees granted is less than 30 or in which fewer than 3 post baccalaureate level programs are offered and which either (a) grant baccalaureate degrees in 3 or more program areas, or (b) offer a baccalaureate program in interdisciplinary studies.

D. Specialized Institutions

These are baccalaureate or post baccalaureate institutions characterized by a programmatic emphasis in one area (plus closely related specialties), such as business or engineering. The programmatic emphasis is measured by the percentage of degrees granted in the program area. An institution granting over 60 percent of its degrees in one program area, or granting over one-half of its degrees in one program area and granting degrees in fewer than 5 baccalaureate program areas, is considered to be a specialized institution. (The U.S. Service Schools are also considered specialized.)

E. 2-Year Institutions

These are institutions that confer at least 75 percent of their degrees and awards for work below the bachelor's level.

F. Institutions Newly Admitted to HEGIS

These are institutions that have been recently admitted to the Higher Education General Information System universe (NOT necessarily newly organized). As soon as degree and award information becomes available to NCES, these institutions will be classified.
